The first class will discuss the readings in the introduction. We will focus on the distinction between the law in the books and the law in action. The first two readings are a general introduction to the concepts; the last three readings address the distinction in the context of exchange.