INTERNATIONAL LAW

MATERIALS FOR FIRST CLASSES

The main source of materials for this class is the course website, found at:
http://www.law.nyu.edu/kingsburyb/fall06/intl_law/index.html
Course requirements are also detailed there.

We begin at the first class with Unit I of the website materials. For the first class please try to read at least items 2(a), 2(b), 2(c) and 2(d) of Unit I. Throughout the semester, students are expected to read the relevant materials for each class prior to coming to class.

In addition to website materials, students should purchase a course book, International Law (ed. Malcolm Evans). The Second Edition of this book was published in August 2006. The bookstore has ordered the second edition; an announcement will be sent when it arrives. Students who had earlier this summer purchased from the bookstore a copy of the first edition of the book may return that copy to the bookstore (provided it is unmarked). But students who wish to do so may simply use the first edition (2003), and consult a library copy of the second edition when needed occasionally. This book is used mainly to provide the framing of the law on issues we discuss. It is not a “cases and materials” book, and we will not discuss the book much in class.
