Welcome back.
For the first class, please read the "Introductory Texts" posted on blackboard in the course documents section. The assignment is very short and designed primarily to get you thinking. (For those of you "shopping" the course and without access to the course site on blackboard, please see my secretary Valerie Avisado in Room 416 to obtain a copy of the materials.)

The first class will be an abbreviated one, but I will be making some important announcements about the structure of the course. I look forward to seeing you all.
